Joint Degree Programme
Cultural Heritage Conservation and Management

Academic Degree MA (Master of Arts)
Credits 90 ECTS
Duration 3 semesters
Language English

The study aims at graduates of conservation-restoration study programmes, who intend to develop and refine their competences by gaining hands-on experience in international project work, in teaching and didactics of conservation, in project and site management, and in the preservation of cultural as well as world heritage. The programme focuses on innovative, transcultural, and interdisciplinary teaching formats, as well as some stays in Asia to enable learning from and with each other.

Admission

Admission to the programme is open to students holding a diploma or an equivalent degree (MA, Dipl.-Rest.) in conservation-restoration. English proficiency is required as the study programme is taught in English. The admission procedure consists of two phases: the submission of a written application and a personal interview held in English.

Current dates for admission and entrance exam are available on www.dieangewandte.at/chcm.
